instruments—and much more! Since our inception in 2000, we have been proudly serving the medical community for 16 years and specialize in selling brand-name surgical supplies at discounted prices—in quantities YOU decide.

When you call eSutures, you're not just speaking to an order taker, you're speaking to an expert who understands the products you use and can help you find what you need quickly and easily—no guesswork, no delays. Our goal is to make the ordering process as streamlined and efficient as possible. We know your time is valuable and the last thing you want to do is spend it on ordering supplies or chasing down an exotic item. "The driving force behind everything we do is to provide exceptional customer service," said eSutures President and CEO Anthony Iaderosa. "eSutures has an important role in the medical supply industry and our real-time product delivery system is what separates us from the competition."
