countless physicians increase their practices' revenue and cut unnecessary costs by outsourcing with his company. These practices experience lower insurance claim rejection rates, faster insurance and patient payments, and higher profits thanks to keeping overhead costs down. While other medical offices must devote huge quantities of time to juggling insurance and billing issues, those who've partnered with Hippocratic Solutions can focus on what really matters: patient care.

Equipped with extensive training in ICD-10 and Medicare policies for all carriers, the billing and coding experts at Hippocratic Solutions expedite accounts receivable payments so they're processed in up to 1/8th of the time. Meanwhile, Web-based billing technology means medical offices can access their financials at any time of the day or night. Real-time reports provide a comprehensive review of clients' financial affairs, allowing for unprecedented peace of mind and the ability to plan for the future.

"Hippocratic Solutions took all my worries away and promptly enrolled me with all the major insurance carriers," says Andrea Hunt, DPM. "I truly trust their knowledge and expertise."

Hippocratic Solutions is a very valuable asset to me and my practice and I highly recommend them to any practitioner, established or new, to make them feel at ease when dealing with the insurance industry and knowing that their best interests are at heart."

"Since contracting with their medical billing service, our receipts have increased significantly, and our patient statements go out promptly after the office visit," says Jerod Darnell, DPM. "Accuracy of initial insurance claims is superb, and the quality of work in general is outstanding."

"I would recommend Hippocratic Solutions to any physician looking for exceptional service and hoping to avoid the headaches and confusion of medical billing," says Darnell.

Other offices testify to significant increases in revenue, much faster turnaround from insurance claim submissions to payments, and the pleasure of working with Hippocratic Solutions' friendly, knowledgeable staff.

Founder Koukounas continues to impress upon his team the importance of putting clients' best interests first, so physicians can focus on providing excellent care knowing their administrative services are in good hands.
