

The 2020 Midwest Podiatry Conference: Discover, Practice and Master

By John Ruff, DPM,
President of Midwest
Podiatry Conference

The Midwest Podiatry Conference is aware of the importance of your learning objectives and goals in order to effectively advance your career. We also know you have many choices when it comes to selecting where you can gather your best learning opportunities. That's why the 2020 Midwest Podiatry Conference is offering up to 31 hours of CME for podiatric physicians that explore multiple disciplines while offering hands-on workshops and labs to fine-tune learned skills.

2020 MPC will begin with a half-day coding seminar on Wednesday, April 29th from 1:00PM—5:00PM. This session will assist you in obtaining valuable coding updates, as well as address questions and issues you have encountered while submitting claims. On Thursday, April 30th our day of education will culminate with a 2-hour Risk Management Session produced by PICA. The PICA session will provide tangible insights into the areas of mitigating risk for your practice. Following this session, you are invited to join your colleagues and industry representatives for a casual networking opportunity at our Welcome Reception in the Exhibit Hall. On Friday, May 1st and Saturday, May 2nd, we will host a full day of educational content, hands-on workshops, cadaver labs and networking opportunities for you and your staff.

Earn up to 31 hours of CME while exploring multiple disciplines at 2020 MPC.

For clinical & administrative medical assistants, the ASPMA will be offering the 2020 Assistants Program, which will feature two tracks of programming. Each track will focus on the clinical and administrative aspects of the podiatric profession and will be presented in formats that are interactive.

and address questions and issues you have encountered while submitting claims. On Thursday, April 30th our day of education will culminate with a 2-hour Risk Management Session produced by PICA. The PICA session will provide tangible insights into the areas of mitigating risk for your practice. Following this session, you

Our Exhibit Hall showcases over 200 booths representing products and services to help elevate your practice.

For residents, fellows and preceptees, you are welcome to take part in the International Post Graduate Research Symposium (IPGRS) by presenting your own innovative abstract on a topic impacting the field of podiatry. The top 10 chosen abstracts will be invited to present their research in lecture format and compete head-to-head during the conference.

Fine tune learned skills with hands on workshops and labs at 2020 MPC.

In addition, all attendees will have access to an active Exhibit Hall with over 200 booths showcasing global companies representing numerous products and services to help you bring the latest offerings to your patients and elevate your practice.

No matter where you are in your career, 2020 MPC offers you essential skill sets to help grow and build your practice to its greatest potential.

No matter where you are in your career, 2020 MPC offers you essential skill sets to help grow and build your practice to its greatest potential. From residency to general podiatry to advanced specialties like wound care, sports medicine and surgery, 2020 MPC offers multi-disciplinary educational opportunities to inspire and achieve many of your career objectives.

Be sure to Discover, Practice and Master leading industry content at the 2020 Midwest Podiatry Conference on Wednesday, April 29th at 1:00 PM through Saturday, May 2nd at 5:00 PM to help you reach all of your practice, patient care, and educational goals.

Please visit Midwestpod-conf.org or click here for additional program details and registration.