

Calm Neuropathy Pain without Side Effects

Learn why this doctor starts with a non-prescription option.

By Laina Stilwell

"I can't sleep at night—the shooting, prickling pain keeps me awake."

"I need a pain relief without the drowsy side effects?"

"I need a neuropathy pain relief product that won't interfere with my other medications."

"I don't need to run marathons again—I just want to take a pain-free walk."

Have your neuropathy patients spoken these same words? If so, you'll want to keep reading. Dr. Tammi Chapman, DPM of TLC Foot Doc, Ltd. tells us why she recommends Frankincense & Myrrh Neuropathy to her patients. "I believe in it. It has helped a good 75% [of my patients] find temporary relief."

F&M: How would you describe Frankincense & Myrrh Neuropathy?

Dr. Chapman: Frankincense & Myrrh Neuropathy is a safe, non-drowsy, topical pain relief rubbing oil that won't interfere with other medications. It has helped many of my patients get a better night's sleep and move better during the day. While it doesn't help all my patients, a good 75% who use it find temporary relief. For those it doesn't help, Frankincense & Myrrh comes with a satisfaction guarantee offering a full product refund.

F&M: When do you recommend Frankincense & Myrrh Neuropathy?

Dr. Chapman: I like giving patients options. All my neuropathy patients get a Frankincense & Myrrh Neuropathy sample. I believe in this product! It's a great non-prescription option, and we are seeing good results with our patients who use it. I have not found many effective topical pain relief products on the market. This one works.

Many of my patients are on a plethora of medications. I can recommend Frankincense & Myrrh Neuropathy to help take the edge off their pain without negative interactions with their other medications. For patients on Gabapentin, Frankincense & Myrrh Neuropathy allows them to cut back on the Gabapentin during the day so they aren't so sleepy.
